

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to the use of constrained coiled-coil polypeptides to mimic  $\alpha$ -helical structural elements of native proteins. These constrained peptidyl mimetics are used to 5 generate and/or identify ligands which selectively bind the  $\alpha$ -helical segment contained in the native protein.

009290" 22220960